About Open Eye Gallery - www.openeye.org.uk

We believe photography is for everyone and can be meaningful, informing our present and inspiring positive futures. Open Eye Gallery works with people to explore photography's unique ability to connect, to tell stories, to inquire, to reflect on humanity's past and present, and to celebrate its diversity and creativity.

Right now, we're working towards becoming a more useful gallery for all, putting socially engaged photography practice at the heart of what we do. We believe passionately in delivering projects, which take a co-authored approach to practice, where artists and those they collaborate with share agency in the work produced. We welcome working applications, which demonstrate collaborative methods of working with staff, learners from the Criminal Justice Setting and their family members to explore their own personal narrative and context through photography.

About HMP Thorn Cross

HMP Thorn Cross is a category D prison based in Warrington, Cheshire. The open prison holds over 400 men. At Thorn Cross there are options to study or take workshops and training courses in a range of subjects, including construction trades, hospitality, catering, Art, Family Learning, ICT, Maths and English.

Aims and objectives of the project

NOVUS believes creative expression can build confidence and enhance lives, as well as developing skills related to employment. Prisons can be quite insular and with restrictions on access to equipment and modern technology - including the internet and social media, - it can be very challenging to prepare our learners for the real world.

Not only do NOVUS recognise the use of photography for creativity and self expression, we also recognise the advantages of learning new technical skills for an image focused world. The opportunity will also develop the learners transferable skills, including responding to a brief, and time management.

The opportunity to question and work alongside an operating professional in any field gives learners a fresh insight into the real working world but also support in-staff to refresh their own standard skills and techniques. We see this as a development opportunity for staff, which in turn may have positive impact on future learners.

NOVUS and Open Eye Gallery understand the benefits of collaborating with high quality critically engaged photographic artists, and will continue to develop arts as a tool for rehabilitation.

Through this project we aim to:

- To build socially engaged processes of creative practice within the HMP setting, positively fostering creative learning for all involved
- Explore to what extent the accessibility of photography can transcend barriers to creativity
- Create an opportunity for two-way learning between cultural organisations and external freelance artists with in-house staff within HMP settings. Can this process inspire new approaches to existing curriculum?
- Explore how public showcases of work produced can change wider public perceptions, e.g. reducing stigma of those in and affected by the criminal justice sector.
- Connect to family members of learners, opening up opportunities for future family focused groups at Open Eye Gallery.
- Creatively experiment and collaborate with photographers and staff to produce work, which is meaningful to them.
